SOVIET REPLY CAUSES MUCH SPECULATION

Secretary Byrnes Believed To Have Renewed Assurances of Vigorous Support From Truman
MAY NOT END CRISIS

New York, April 2—(P)—Neither Russia nor Iran had filed replies this morning to the United Nations Security Council's request for complete information on the current difficulties between the two countries.

With the deadline only 24 hours away it was still uncertain whether Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko would attend Wednesday's 11 a. m. council session.

"I don't know," Gromyko told reporters as he entered the Russian consulate general, two blocks from his hotel, at 10:30 a. m.

New York, April 2—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes turned back toward United Nations headquarters today from a White House conference believed to have given him renewed assurance of President Truman's vigorous support in grappling tomorrow with developments in the Iranian crisis.

Expectation among top diplomats here is that these developments, even though they may include a message from Russia replying to Security Council inquiries about Iran, probably will not break the crisis but merely advance it to a new stage.

This is based on the belief, privately expressed by these authorities, that Iran's demands upon the council very likely will not be substantially changed by Premier Ahmed Qavam in his reply to the security council.

Secretary General Trygve Lie a note reaffirming the position of Ambassador Hussein Ala as his fully authorized spokesman here.

Ala has been insistent on keeping the Iranian case actively before the council. If Qavam now planned to agree to have the case shelved or delayed pending withdrawal of Russian troops and further direct negotiations with Moscow, diplomatic authorities doubted the premier would have been at such pains to endorse Ala.

The Anglo-American policy in preparation for tomorrow's council session, presumably confirmed by Byrnes' talk with Mr. Truman yesterday, is reliably reported to be this:

If both Russia and Iran say that Soviet troops are being withdrawn from Iran and are not being used to influence the Iranian government in considering Russian demands for oil concessions and the like, the council should accept the answers as satisfactory and shelve the case temporarily. Moscow and Tehran would then continue with direct negotiations, being asked only to report to the Security Council at some future stage.

If the Russian answer is equivocal, however, or if the Iranian government does not give the situation a clean bill of health, Byrnes and Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain plan to seek continued active consideration of the case by the Security Council.

There is also the possibility that Russia may not answer at all the council's message of last Friday asking about the withdrawal of Soviet forces and whether their removal is in any way dependent on the parallel negotiations for Russian concessions from Iran.

Protest Made Over
Absence of Warning

Honolulu, April 2—(P)—An informed source said the army and navy were protesting to the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, saying that official warning of the tidal waves which struck Hawaii yesterday could have saved many lives.

The great submarine shock which caused the tidal waves had been recorded five hours earlier at Pasadena, Calif.

Lt. Cmdr. W. D. Patterson, supervisor of the Pacific district of the Geodetic Survey, said the first he knew of the tidal wave was when the water rushed into his beach home.

Committee in Row Over Bill For Health Insurance Plan

Washington, April 2—(P)—Senator Taft (R-O) stalked angrily from a senate committee hearing today after Committee Chairman Murray (D-Mont) threatened to have him ejected.

The row broke out and quickly reached the shouting stage as the senate labor committee began consideration of legislation to set up a national compulsory health insurance plan.

Taft broke into a statement by Murray to assert that the bill was "the most socialistic one congress ever had before it."

Directors Fix Salaries and Elect Instructors at March Meeting of the School Board

Principal business taken up at the April meeting of the school board, held last night at the high school, was the fixing of salaries for next year and election of instructors for the same term.

All elementary school teachers were granted a "cost of living" increase of $140, bringing total salary for that group to $2,300, and those under this rating were granted the state-mandated increase of $50 or $100. All high school instructors were allowed the "cost of living" increase of $120, making this top salary $2,500, with similar state-mandated increase for those under that sum.

In addition, the teachers holding master's degrees were allowed an extra $100, bringing the elementary top to $2,400 and the high school to $2,600. Increases granted teachers and clerks brought the full expenditure to about $18,800.

Dr. E. S. Briggs, school physician for the past 12 years, asked to be relieved of that assignment in the coming term.

Acknowledgment was made of the following funds received by the school district: For the lunch program for February, $1,114.48; the state health program up to February 1, $1,704; state appropriation toward teachers' salaries, $17,575.51; state tuition for children at the Hoffman Home for the 1944 and 1945 term, $1,720.98.

Announcement was made that the senior class of 1946 has chosen Pastor Edward K. Rodgers, of First Lutheran church, as the speaker for the baccalaureate service on June 2.

The request of the American Legion that the Dragon Band participate in the Memorial Day parade was approved, as was a request of pre-school mothers' clubs of the community for the use of the auditorium on May 23, a fee of $5 to be charged if no admission is charged.

Fines amounting to $20 were collected by the justice of the peace, collected for violation of the compulsory attendance law and drunkenness on the part of parents.

Scholastic standing of Warren freshmen in other schools and colleges was embodied in a report which showed the local pupils well above the average.

Borough teachers were elected (Turn to Page Seven)

VAN ZANDT PLANS TO START HIS CAMPAIGN

Washington, April 2—(P)—James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., three-times national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, says he'll begin campaigning for his old seat in congress April 15—That's when his term expires—and he'll begin his campaign.

Van Zandt resigned his congressional seat—he served the 22nd district for two and a half terms—in 1943 to accept a commission in the navy. Within two weeks he was in command of an LST in combat in the Pacific. He was promoted to captain only last week.

For an editorial in which he said attention was called to some claims that such health bills were "socialistic."

"I'll tell you this measure is the most Socialistic one congress ever had before it," Taft interrupted.

Taft then insisted on making a statement. He managed to shout, above the loud protests of Murray, that he himself would introduce a health bill.

Murray, standing almost shoulder to shoulder with Taft, snapped that he didn't intend to be "bluffed" by "grandstand plays."

"You have so much gall," cried Murray, "that you would not let me, the chairman of this committee, conclude my statement."

Then, he made his threat to have Taft put out of the committee room.

Murray opened the hearing by commending the Washington Post

DUCE SCOLDED FOR ATTITUDE TOWARD JEWS

Ribbentrop Angriily Admits
He Had Upbraided Mussolini for Mercy Shown
By Italians
ESPIONAGE DISCOVERED

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Nuernberg, April 2—(P)—Joachim von Ribbentrop angrily mitted before the international military tribunal today that he had upbraided Benito Mussolini because of Italian mercy to Jews in southern occupied France.

Earlier he testified that his German foreign office always sought to soften Nazi anti-semitic measures in Europe.

Confronted with captured German records which depicted him in the role of a special anti-semitic envoy to foreign governments, the former German foreign minister conceded that the documents were substantially correct.

"I knew of the fuhrer's plan to resettle European Jews in east territories, or later in Madagascar or North Africa," von Ribbentrop said.

"Because a large-scale espionage system was discovered among Jews in France who helped British and American intelligence, the fuhrer ordered me to get Mussolini's assurance that the Jews would be stopped. The Italians had been working against certain measures taken against Jews by the French government under German influence. A lot of unpleasant matters had occurred."

Mussolini four months before the Duce was overthrown. The Italian chief of state, according to documents presented by Edgar Faure, French prosecutor, tried to soothe the Germans by attributing the whole thing to Vichy effort.

WOMAN SLAYER Escapes From Reformatory

Hollywood, April 2—(P)—Wallace Beery, his voice showing none of the tears that were in his eyes, proved again last night the theatrical adage that the show must go on.

Only hours after his elder brother, Noah, died in his arms of a heart attack, Wallace and his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, made a scheduled radio broadcast of "Barnacle Bill," with another actor in the role Noah was to have played.

The brothers, always close, had parallel careers for many years, both on the stage and in films. Their last joint film appearance was last year in "This Man's Navy."

Noah, 63, was stricken here while on a two-week vacation from "Up in Central Park," the hit New York musical in which he has played Boss Tweed. Sunday night he attended Wally's 61st birthday party.

Dent Wants State Police Recalled

Harrisburg, April 2—(P)—Senator John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) asked Governor Martin today to recall state police from the strike-bound plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation at East Pittsburgh, stating in a letter to the executive:

"The situation is fraught with grave danger now. The time to remove the danger is now—not after the damage has been done."

State police moved into the East Pittsburgh area on March 26 after Sheriff Walter C. Mohaghan, of Allegheny county, requested aid from Governor Martin enforcing a court injunction against mass picketing. A delegation of the CIO-United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, asked for their withdrawal the same day.

Governor Martin sent William H. Chesnut, secretary of labor and industry, to Pittsburgh to look into the situation. On Chesnut's return, Martin announced the state police would remain in the strike area, asserting he felt "it would be a grave mistake" to remove them.

TRAIN WRECK IN IOWA
Manning, Ia., April 2—(P)—A Chicago Great Western passenger train was derailed two miles east of here today and doctors were summoned to the scene from Carroll and Manning. The train was westbound No. 33. Injured were reported being taken to Carroll and Manning hospitals.

BOY ADMITS MURDER
Allentown, April 2—(P)—Two 16-year-old boys, pleading guilty to a charge of murder in the slaying of a 65-year-old Schwenksville farmer, will get a court hearing April 17 to determine the degree of their guilt, Judge James F. Henninger said. The boys, Earl E. Goerlich and William Soldridge, both of Lockport, admitted yesterday in criminal court that they shot Edwin A. Mickley last Dec. 16 with a .22 calibre rifle.

Partially Solved By O. P. A.

Washington, April 2—(P)—Ladies, the case of the disappearing nylons was partially solved today by OPA Administrator Paul Porter.

"At the request of Rep. Ludlow (D-Ind.) he attempted to explain why 'no hose today' has become the shopkeeper's password."

DEATH TOLL IN TIDAL WAVE IS EXPECTED TO REACH 300

Beekeepers Protest
DDT Dusting by Plane

Wilkes-Barre, April 2—(P)—The dusting of 30,000 acres of wooded lands in northeastern Pennsylvania with DDT from low-flying airplanes is opposed by Luzerne county's 1,000 beekeepers.

W. J. Robbins, Jr., of near-by Trucksville, spokesman for the group, said the spraying of DDT to destroy the gypsy moth should be done by hand to avoid killing bees valued at $1,500,000. Robbins said the bees provide proper pollination of fruits and vegetables and produce much needed beeswax.

Bees, Robbins said, could not escape the DDT spray from low-flying planes.

Vote To Open Hearings On Draft Issue

Washington, April 2—(P)—The house military committee voted today to reopen hearings on legislation designed to extend the draft law.

Two additional days of hearings starting tomorrow were set aside for opposition witnesses. Chairman May (D-Ky) said the American Federation of Labor probably would lead off.

After voting to reopen the hearings over the objections of some members who had sought a show-down vote today, the committee decided to start closed sessions Friday in an effort to reach final decision.

The committee already has heard supporters of draft extension in two days of testimony.

Indications were the group would recommend a nine or ten month extension beyond May 15. The army has asked for one year continuation.

Committee members reported strong support after today's session for an 18-month limitation on service of new inductees, for a ban against the induction of fathers, and a requirement that the army discharge as quickly as possible all fathers now in service and all men with 18 months service.

Enacted in 1940 and continued from year to year since then, the act expires May 15. The armed (Turn to Page Seven)

School Pupils Help Take Bank Robbers

Hulbert, Okla., April 2—(P)—State troopers routed two chilled bank robbers from their watery hiding place in a nearby creek early today, shortly after a farm line spreader and a school bus load of students had chased the men from the Hulbert National Bank where they had attempted a pre-dawn robbery.

Sheriff's Deputy John Riley at Muskogee said the men were surprised at their work in the bank by the load of students, who had been to Muskogee to participate in a parade. They fled in an automobile, and the line spreader joined the bus in pursuit.

The men submerged themselves in a creek and left only their noses protruding when the pursuing vehicles approached, Riley said, but when state troopers spotted them and fired into the water, they came out with their hands up.

The robbers took two sacks of silver coins but overlooked $28,000 in currency. Undersheriff Fred Hudlin at Tahlequah said.

Settlement Near in Pittsburgh Strike

Washington, April 2—(P)—Seven local and national representatives of striking East Pittsburgh, Pa., employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., arrived today to confer with Senators Guffey and Myers of Pennsylvania.

John McKeefe, president of Local 601, United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers Union CIO, told a reporter they wanted to "review the situation generally" with the senators as the strike enters its 12th week.

COMMUNISTS PROTE
IRKS COMMUNISTS

Chungking, April 2—(P)—The Chinese Communists demanded anew today that American forces cease transportation of Nationalist troops to Manchuria as the dispute about the size of forces the Communists and central government should maintain in the northern territory broke out again.

A dispatch from Yenan, Communist headquarters which reported the demand to the United States, charged that government troops are being poured into Manchuria for "civil war purposes."

"Satisfactory settlement of this question (of relative forces in Manchuria) will decide the prospect of peace in Manchuria and the whole country," the dispatch said.

Then Central Daily News reported that government troops entered the Manchurian port of Yinkow at the head of the Gulf of Chihli on the night of March 28.

Damage To Islands In The Hawaiian Area May Mount Into Millions of Dollars

Ketchikan, Alaska, April 2—(P)—Coast Guard district headquarters today attempted to chart the course of a tidal wave which, it said, was sweeping toward southeastern Alaska. It hoped to warn residents in its projected path. It said an airplane yesterday spotted a wave 10 feet high and traveling about 25 miles an hour toward southeastern Alaska.

Washington, April 2—(P)—Reports of tidal wave damage to naval installations in the Pacific began reaching the Navy Department today, but initial information indicated it was not of major proportions. Messages from Pacific fleet headquarters and commands at Hawaii and Alaska reported no loss of life among navy personnel.

Hilo, Hawaii, April 2—(P)—This once-beautiful city of 25,000 exposed to the full fury of the tidal waves which yesterday lashed vast areas of the eastern Pacific and left at least 93 dead, was on short rations today as rescue squads dug through ruins on its once-busy waterfront district.

Scores are missing, and on the island of Hawaii alone at least 4,000 are homeless.

A naval officer expressed fears the death toll in Hilo might reach 300, but there were indications the final figure would be considerably short of this estimate.

Damage throughout the disaster zone, stretching from the Aleutians westward to Midway, eastward to California and southward to Hawaii and Johnston Island, ran into millions of dollars.

The death toll:
Hawaiian Islands—60 bodies recovered at Hilo, nine on Oahu, seven on Maui and six on Kauai Islands.

Unimak, the Aleutians—Ten men swept to sea from the Scotch Cap lighthouse.

California—One man swept to sea from the Santa Cruz beach.

Many were missing in Hilo and in rural Laupahoehoe, but the number was not known.

At Honolulu, William W. Monahan, chairman of the Hawaii Red Cross, estimated that not more than 4,000 refugees asked for shelter in all of the Hawaiian Islands. Of these, 1,800 were on Oahu and 800 on Hawaii Islands.

Robert Lindsey, chairman of Red Cross disaster relief here, said 60 bodies had been recovered from wreckage in Hilo and "I expect there will be more."

Territorial Gov. Ingram Stainback invoked the Hawaiian defense act "for the safeguarding of life and property and the preservation of law and order" in wave-ravaged areas.

Casualty reports appeared to be complete from all damaged areas except the island of Hawaii, on which Hilo with its 25,000 population is located.

There was some hope that Hilo's death toll might not reach the naval officer's 300 estimate. A score of persons previously reported missing had been saved from the waters off Hawaii by army and navy air-sea rescue planes and small surface craft. One, a 21-year-old school teacher, Miss Marjorie McGinnis, was rescued after eight hours in the water.

There was hope also that the waves might not recur today, as feared for a third night. The tide was out, the Alaska sea frontier, at Seattle, emphatically denied as "grossly exaggerated" reports that a 100-foot tidal wave was rushing along the Aleutian island chain toward Kodiak. He added that no new wave was forecast.

Hawaiians "dared not estimate the damage, except in the millions of dollars," the Alaska sea frontier, at Seattle, emphatically denied as "grossly exaggerated" reports that a 100-foot tidal wave was rushing along the Aleutian island chain toward Kodiak. He added that no new wave was forecast.

Tens of thousands of dollars worth of food in warehouses was destroyed.

It was estimated that Hilo had only four days of food available. To conserve the supply, residents were limited to the purchase of $2 worth of food at one time.

The army flew 30 tons of food to Hilo from Honolulu last night and will fly additional supplies today. There was no request for medicines.

Fleet headquarters at Pearl Harbor reported there was no loss of navy personnel or any damage to major naval installations in the mid-Pacific area, including Palmyra, Canton and Johnston islands. It said some personnel suffered minor injuries.

Navy dispatches from Midway and tiny Johnston islands reported major damage to communications facilities but no loss of navy personnel.

Stassen Sounds Discordant Note Over Chairman Choice

Washington, April 2—(P)—Harold E. Stassen sounded a discordant note today in Republican praises for the G. O. P. national committee's choice of Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee as the party's new chairman.

Stassen, who is almost avowedly in the race for the 1948 presidential nomination, declared it is "well known that I do not approve of Chairman Reece's stand on many issues in the past."

The former Minnesota governor's statement left little doubt about his disappointment over the committee's action in naming Reece, a close political associate of Senator Robert Taft and former Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, over two other candidates.

Reece succeeds Herbert E. Brownell, Jr., who resigned to devote full time to his New York law practice.

With the almost solid backing of southern state Republicans, plus some such veterans of GOP political battles as Werner Schroeder of Illinois, Reece won on the third ballot in a torrid committee session.

Reece's forces, headed by Walter Hallahan, West Virginia committeeman, defeated former Senator John A. Danaher of Connecticut, generally regarded as the choice of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and John W. Hanes of North Carolina.

The choice of Reece promptly was approved publicly by Danaher, whose $20,000 a year job as liaison man between the national committee and minority members of congress may continue. Hanes was not present to state his views.

MEDIATOR IS SITTING IN ON MINE PARLEY

Strikers Settle Down To Period of Waiting Until Leaders Agree On Terms
NO PICKET RULE HOLDS

Pittsburgh, April 2—(P)—The nation's soft coal miners, who have invoked their "no contract, no work" principle, apparently settled down today to a period of waiting until the leaders of the industry and the AFL-United Mine Workers can agree on collective bargaining terms.

Nobody could say how long it would take.

The union's contract expired Sunday midnight, and the work stoppage by nearly 400,000 began yesterday in holiday mood, the occasion being the miners' traditional annual celebration in honor of one-time President John Mitchell and their president of today, John L. Lewis. The miners paraded and heard speeches in some communities.

Negotiations looking toward the new contract continued in Washington. The chief stumbling block was the dispute over Lewis' demand for a health and welfare fund to be paid for in tonnage royalties by the operators and administered by the union.

The government's special mediator, Paul Fuller, sat in on the conferences between miner and operator representatives.

There were no reports from the strike field of any picketing. Apparently the miners took President Lewis at his word when he told them just to go home and rest.

Mine supervisory workers, members of the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Workers, an affiliate of UMW District 50, continued to report for duty, carrying out instructions from their president, John McAlpine of Pittsburgh, who notified them they were to carry on "until further notice."

Efforts of the stoppage were felt first in the steel industry, just recovering from a 26-day walkout of USW-Steelworkers in January.

I. N. Bayless, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, said the carrier which uses 90 percent of the output of the Union Pacific mines in Wyoming, was preparing to install oil burners in locomotives if the strike is prolonged.

Only hint of possible trouble in the coal fields came from West Virginia where UMW representative B. H. Jenkins told an audience of miners at Welch that an unidentified company planned to operate despite the union's "no work" directive.

Jenkins declared: "The United Mine Workers will not be responsible for what happens if that company attempts to operate."

Coal operators had offered the miners a pay raise of about 18 1/2 cents an hour but Lewis had rejected wage talk until operators give an answer on the health and welfare fund, which heads the mine contract proposals submitted by the union.

One of the other demands was (Turn to Page Seven)

Suspension Lies Within District

Harrisburg, April 2.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association's Board of Control has abdicated itself as a tribunal of final appeal in intra-district eligibility suspensions, placing the respective district committee in complete authority.

PIAA executive secretary Edmund C. Wicht said the district committees now have the ultimate right—without appeal—to prohibit any PIAA school from taking part in athletic contests with non-member schools whose eligibility rules do not conform with those of the PIAA.

Heretofore, Wicht explained, appeals were invariably taken to the Board of Control after the district committees handed down adverse decisions forbidding unsanctioned contests.

The Board of Control also reported it has accepted for PIAA membership Brookville Junior High School of Brookville, Jefferson County.

Only WACS Can Enlist For Service

Overseas service is now being offered to enlisted personnel of the Women's Army Corps, the War Department announced yesterday. Openings are available in the European Theater of Operations for 600 women in five specialist categories. This applies equally to Wacs who reenter the service, who will be given the grade which they held at the time of discharge, and to those still in uniform who volunteer to remain beyond their scheduled time of discharge. All applications for reentry into the service must be filed in local U. S. Army Recruiting Stations by midnight April 30.

"The whole basis for the reentry and volunteer programs now being conducted by the Woman's Army Corps is the need for skilled personnel," Major General W. S. Paul, AGS, G-1 commented. "In spite of the fact that there are some military installations where Wacs are no longer needed, there is an acute demand in others for certain skills."

WAC stenographers, clerk typist, general clerks, telephone switchboard operators, and teletype-writer operators comprise the specialists needed in the European Theater at the present time.

In addition to the 600 earmarked for Europe, there is an urgent need for skilled Wacs in personnel centers, hospitals and headquarters installations in this country. Hospital, X-Ray and laboratory technicians are especially in demand, as well as clerk-typists and stenographers. Former enlisted women may reenter the WAC for these duties, at which time they will be given the grade which they held at the time of their discharge. No closing date has yet been announced for such applications, but it is expected to be determined shortly.

Two types of enlistment are available to Wacs who reenter the service. They may reenter for the duration plus six months, or they may sign up until September 30 of this year, as it is expected that the acute need for skilled personnel will continue through the summer months.

In recognition of the need for a Women's Army Corps in the peacetime military establishment, the War Department will seek early legislation establishing a small permanent Women's Army Corps in the Regular Army. General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Chief of Staff, has approved the policy. Pending such Congressional action on the peacetime Corps, present enlistment in The WAC is limited to former Wacs.

Graduated After 37 Years

Maj.-Gen. William E. Kepner, right, was a sophomore at Kokomo High School 40 years ago when he decided to quit and join the Marines. His military career carried him to the Army and command of the Eighth Air Force Fighter Command in World War II. Recently he returned to Kokomo to be commencement speaker for this year's graduating class, and to receive his own diploma from Superintendent of Schools C. V. Haworth, left above.

Will Enforce Law Relating To Brush Fires

State officers will enforce a law of the State Legislature by which no burning of brush, old logs, tree tops, etc., can be done on any lands where there is oil or gas wells, rigs for the wells or other paraphernalia of the oil business from April 1 to May 20th inclusive. The law is for the purpose of avoiding costly fires.

Fire crews of the State forestry department on Saturday fought fires on Oil Creek where a railroad spark fired grass; at East Branch where a tractor backfired and started a blaze. One was also fought on the Walker farm near Russell by the Russell fire department.

On Sunday a fire took place on Schvab Run in Forest county and one on Quaker Hill where chestnut brush was burned.

Yesterday a grass fire on an abandoned farm in Priest Hollow burned over 40 acres.

Youngsville Legion Buying Stucco Bldg.

Youngsville, April 2.—Youngsville's post of the American Legion last evening made a substantial payment on what is known as the Stucco building which was owned by John Sweetland. The structure is well adapted to the purpose of a legion home and has been under consideration by the Post for several weeks. At one time a deal for the property was practically closed but in some way was not concluded.

It was reported at another time that the old bank building had been purchased but that deal also fell through and was not concluded.

Another real estate deal reported in the purchase by Herbert Masz of the Nutting building at High and West Main streets. Some extensive remodeling work has been done on the structure by Mr. Masz, who returned from U. S. Service some weeks ago.

Moose - Vets In Close Fight For Leadership

Another round in the Inter-City Cribbage tourney was played last night and the Moose entry succeeded in taking over the Vets team by a score of 55 to 53. It was a close match and occasioned much excitement. While the Moose were taking over the Vets the Legion team playing at the Elks Club won by a score of 59 to 49. There are two more matches to play and the next will be played on March 10 when the Moose will play at the Legion and the Elks at the Veterans Club.

The Moose and Veterans are tied for the lead in the standing, each having won three games and lost one. The Elks and Legion have each lost three and won one.

Drive For Jobs Opened Today USES Office

A drive to have Warren County Employers list job openings to be filled by returning veterans and other job seekers was announced today by David W. Levine, local manager of the United States Employment Service.

The local job development campaign, Levine said, parallels a state and national campaign to promote the listing of jobs for approximately 6,200,000 returning service men and women, former war plant workers and other job seekers.

So far this year, approximately 112 returned veterans have been placed in jobs by the Warren office, but at the same time there are approximately 500 applications on file with the local USES office here from veterans who have not found acceptable jobs, Mr. Levine said. The total number of job seekers listed in local USES files is 872. Furthermore, increasing numbers of veterans will return during the next few months adding greatly to the number of jobs which must be found.

"Most veterans returning to civilian life have good qualifications for a wide variety of jobs," said Mr. Levine. "If they did not have work experience before entering the service, many gained experience and skills which fit them for a variety of jobs in civilian industry. As a matter of fact, veterans represent, in many cases, the

APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

Long before blossoms sprinkle pink and white across the mountains and down the valleys east of the Alleghenies, Winchester, Va., is neck-deep in preparation for its Apple Blossom Festival. In a sense, the Festival is the birthday celebration of an apple—the York Imperial, big business in the Shenandoah Valley, says Pathfinder Magazine.

Nobody knows just when this apple sported from the kind generally grown in Pennsylvania. But one spring day around 1820 a Mr. Johnson, near York, noticed small boys yelping over red apples dug from leaves under one of his trees. "Hmmm," said Mr. Johnson.

Before 1830 Jonathan Jessop, a nurseryman thereabouts, was raising these long-lasting Johnson's Fine Winters. When a horticulturist called them The Imperials of Keepers about 1850, they became York Imperials—and began to spread outside Pennsylvania to West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia.

That's why this spring these states again back Winchester, Apple Capital of the East, in her 19th two-day festival (May 2-3) when blossoms on Frederick county's 700,000 apple trees reach their peak. This extravaganza will be the first in five years and more than the usual pack of visitors is expected.

Queen Shenandoah XIX's coronation, a pageant by 1,500 high school students, a firemen's torchlight parade and the Princess' Ball are first-day festivities. Events next day are the Grand Feature Parade with four miles of floats and marching organizations and the Queen's Ball.

Greyhound buses, a daily train and U. S. Highway No. 11 will take you to Winchester. The rest of historic Shenandoah Valley, Luray caverns and the scenic Skyline Drive atop the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains are within easy driving distance.

Adoption by council at the March meeting last evening of a resolution providing for fast time for Warren effective on the night of April 27 will meet with general satisfaction in the community. Usually opposed by farmers because of the handicaps it imposes Daylight Saving time has been increasingly popular in municipalities. Present indications are that it will be adopted almost universally this summer. All networks have arranged schedules for the change to fast time later in the month.

Congratulations to the busy folk at North Warren for the erection of an Authority by which they will within a few months be afforded an adequate supply of pure water for domestic and fire purposes. North Warren citizens just seem to have the "go ahead spirit" in copious quantities and can point with pride to their many endeavors which have been blessed with success. Warren could well follow the example of the North Warren folk and take over under an Authority several utilities here.

News that the officers of Lewis M. Clark Camp, United Spanish War Veterans have decided to surrender the charter and disband, as announced at the meeting of the borough council last evening, will be learned with sincere regret by all in the community. This decision is a forcible reminder that the ranks of survivors of the campaign of 1898 are thinning all too rapidly. The heroic band has been reduced to but a small group who find it impossible to carry on as an organization.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By THE REV. L. V. MOHNKERN
Clarendon

Text: I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly.—John 10:10.

So many people seem to think of Christianity as an emptying out process by which they empty their lives until life no longer holds much for them. Even the church sometimes seems to stress this side of it when they stress the forgiveness of sins and the ceasing to do evil. This is a very necessary step in religion and unless our sins are forgiven we cannot become Christians, for sin separates us forever from God. We must not only be forgiven of our sins, but we must cease from sinning.

These are such essential things that sometimes in stressing them we give the impression that Christianity offers nothing but an empty, dull life. Here, however, Christ says that He came that we might have an abundant life or a life filled full of the good things of life. When we empty our lives of sin we must fill them with something else. They cannot remain empty, or sin creeps back into them again, even as a bucket always contains something, even if it is only filled with air. In the same manner our lives cannot be empty, but must be filled with something. The worthwhileness of life depends upon that with which we fill life. Christ is asking us to empty out the sin and dross of life, that we might fill our lives with the better things.

The testimonies of countless numbers of Christians is that their lives are filled with more joy and happiness and peace than they ever had while they were living in sin.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

Aboard a Trans-Atlantic Air-liner, the edition of a Paris Air-piper I bought just before boarding this plane for New York is splashing headlines which, if placed before some hermit not familiar with recent events, likely would impel him to the belief that relations among the major powers had gone to the dogs.

There is Russia's initial setback in the UNO security council over the Iranian question after a battle royal. France, backed by Moscow, is insisting that America and Britain take decisive action to unseat eGeneralissimo Franco's Spanish regime. Lt. Gen. Bedell Smith, en route to Moscow to take up his duties as American Ambassador, said in Germany he is going to tell Prime Minister Stalin that the people of the United States want reassurance of the Soviet Union's motives. Just to show that this cuts both ways, the Moscow radio the other day said Russia wanted reassurance about the motives of the western allies.

Finally, my front page reports that over Russian opposition the United States has won UNRRA approval of a mandate to prevent occupying armies from living off the land they conquered. A specific case in hand is the Soviet occupation of Austrian food areas which are needed to feed the people of that country.

There are a lot of other items, but they all add up to the same thing. The big three nations finally have arrived at the time when a showdown on numerous vital questions is being called for.

That's the best news I've encountered since starting my European tour in November, for the uncertainties growing out of the unsettled differences between Russia, Britain and America have had a highly disturbing influence. It is this situation which has had much to do with creating the belief that another global conflict is inevitable—an idea which I have heard advanced repeatedly in many places on the continent.

This column reported a couple of days ago that competent observers in Europe were seeking encouragement from a more positive stand developed recently by the big three in their attitude towards one another. The increasing firmness and tendency to iron out knotty problems were taken as a good sign for peace.

In this sense the current headlines in my newspaper are bearers of good tidings. Apropos of that thought, Winston Churchill would seem to have given us backhand support in a press conference. He is quoted as saying, when asked if he thought the time had come for plain speaking, that he would not contradict this.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1926

Warren will be well represented at Atlantic City's Steel Pier when women from all over the United States will meet for the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

A Columbus farmer is reported to have made $100 in one week by towing stranded automobiles from muddy areas on the Columbus-Wrightsville dirt road. The stretch is impassable.

The Presbyterian Men's Club will sponsor an address here by Captain Noel, official photographer of the Mt. Everest Expedition. Noel replaces Stephen Leacock, whose appearance was cancelled.

The Easter Bonnet Contest, sponsored by Garrison, Inc., will end Thursday. Already many prize-deserving drawings of hats have been submitted. A $10 hat will be the award.

In 1936

Don Bjers paced a team composed of HyVis "B" Merchants, and Marconi Club players to a 39-32 victory over the Jamestown Schroeders by thrown in 10 points.

Frank I. Buckingham, of Kansas City, one of the best known lecturers in America, spoke to the Rotary on "European Conditions" and to a high school assembly on "Law Obedience."

The complete European itinerary of the Vienna Piano Teachers' Normal has been prepared under the direction of Dr. LeRoy E. Campbell. The booklet contains travel information to Vienna, also.

The Warren Relief and Visiting Nurses' campaign to raise $9,800 has been launched. Selection of team captains and members will be made at an organization meeting.

A MISGUESS SETS SLAM BID BY ONE

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

It was nice to see Alvin Roth and Oscar Brotman, who have just returned to civilian life, on the team winning the Eastern team-of-four championship for the Reisinger trophy. Other members of the victorious team were Larry J. Fishbein, Larry Hirsch and Ralph Hirschberg, all of New York.

They won despite the fact that they lost a lot of points on the hand shown today. Against Fishbein and Hirsch, Morrie Ellis and Robert McPherran stopped at four spades and made six; but Roth, playing against Mrs. Helen Sobel and Myron Fuchs, missed making six.

Roth trumped the opening club lead in dummy and led a small diamond. South thought it over and decided to play low, and when Roth trumped, Mrs. Sobel (North) played the ten-spot.

Roth now decided that he could not cross-ruff the hand out for 12 tricks, so he led a small spade and won in dummy with the ten-spot, played another diamond and ruffed. This time Mrs. Sobel played the six-spot. Another spade was led to dummy's king, and Roth had to decide whether to play the queen of diamonds third or the ace of diamonds third. Deciding to try to drop the ace third in the South hand, he led a small diamond, and, of course, the contract was down one.

If he had led the diamond king at this point, South would have had to place the ace, which would have been trumped, and the queen would have fallen. This dummy's diamonds would have been established for the heart discards.

ADVENTURES IN SPACE: The Story of Radar

BY DAVID DIETZ
Noted Science Writer; Author of "Atomic Energy in the Coming Era," Etc.
(Written for NEA Service)

(1) Your uncomprehending ancestor, the caveman, was employing the basic principle of radar when he shouted toward a cliff and heard his voice bound back from it. For the underlying idea of radar is as old as mankind, in fact older. That idea is the echo.

(2) Bats carry their own natural "radar equipment." That is why, in flight, they can perform their uncanny feats of dodging unseen obstacles. Harvard scientists have found that bats issue shrill sounds beyond the range of the human ear. Supersonic sounds, they're called. The bat's ear is tuned to their echo. The sounds were recorded with electrical apparatus by the Harvard savants, who also discovered that the bats lost their dodging ability if their ears were bandaged.

(3) As far back as 1920 scientists employed sound devices to map the ocean bottom. A bell was rung at the bottom of a ship. The echo was caught by a listening device. All that was necessary then was to note the lapse of time between the ringing of the bell and the return of the echo. Dividing this in half told how long it took the sound wave to reach the sea-bottom. Since sound travels in water at a rate of about 5000 feet per second, it is easy to calculate the distance. (The speed of sound differs with the medium and the temperature. The speed of sound in air is approximately only 1000 feet per second.)

(4) Radar follows the same principle as the depth-finder but employs radio waves instead of sound waves. This is where the difficulty of radar begins. For unlike sound, a radio wave travels with the speed of light, namely 186,000 miles a second. Therefore radio waves cannot be timed accurately by ordinary means. To gauge the distance of an incoming airplane, the radar has to indicate time intervals of the order of a 50,000th of a second. This, as we shall see later, can be done with the aid of the electronic device known as an oscillograph tube.

Mary Hubley Hay Will Be Director For "Angel Street"

Program Committee Chairman Helen Israel announces that "Angel Street" will be The Warren Players' final production of season, to be presented in May. Mary Hubley Hay will be the director of the ambitious undertaking and is holding try-outs at 7:30 tonight and Wednesday at the Woman's Club.

"Angel Street" was an outstanding success on the New York stage and later attracted even more fame in the moving picture version as "Gaslight". The cast of the play is small, two men and three women comprising the list of characters, but each role requires unusual dramatic ability.

Director Hay asks that all interested members of the Players come to the try-outs tonight and Wednesday, so that a wide selection of players may be available in the difficult task of casting. She describes the roles in the play as follows: Mr. Manningham, the cold and enigmatic husband (played by Charles Boyer in the screen version); Sgt. Rough, the positive, confident detective (played by Joseph Cotton in the screen play); Bella Manningham, the terrified wife; Nancy, an impudent Cockney maid; and Elizabeth, the placid and reassuring housekeeper.

Copies of the play script are available at the Warren Public Library and aspirants for any of the roles are urged to read the play before coming to the try-outs.

Capacity Houses For Junior Play

Youngville, April 2—With almost capacity audiences, the clever and humorous three-act "Girl Shy" by Katharine Kavanaugh was given in Youngville High School auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings by the junior class.

The production was directed by Helen Zahniser, of the school faculty, who was presented a gift of appreciation between acts, Isabelle Stoudt acting for the cast and production staff.

Music between acts was pleasing, with a variety of two-piano selections played by Mrs. Kate Helker, of the school faculty, and Janet Jones, school pianist.

Valde Luvison made a number of announcements, calling attention to the fact that Benny Randinelli, understudy for Claude Luvison, was playing the role of Chuck Mayo because of Luvison's illness. He did very well in the characterization, with only a week of rehearsal. There was no perceptible prompting for any player and many patrons expressed their appreciation of the production's fun and bit of mystery.

The complete cast was as follows: Kenneth Johnson, Jack Richards, Stewart Smith, Theo Franklin, Maurine Brown, Lorraine Carlson, Delores Mariner, Carl Rosendale, Joanne Burleigh, Lucille Young, Robert Freeborough, Benny Randinelli.

MRS. LEWIS ENJOYS ANNIVERSARY SURPRISE

Mrs. Ray Lewis, 115 Frank street, entertained twelve neighbors yesterday with a very pleasant surprise party honoring the 88th birthday anniversary of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Abbie Lewis.

Games and music were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served, centering about a lovely birthday cake.

Brief Sketches

Mrs. Bro Marrer has returned from a very pleasant vacation trip through California, where she visited her daughter, had opportunity of greeting many old friends from Warren and made stops at many places of interest. One of the highlights of the trip was the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena; another, a visit to the Farmers Market and a glimpse of Sidney Greystreet.

She was a guest at the Dinah Shore radio broadcast when Joan Davis appeared as guest star, and her visit to Alvirra street in Los Angeles coincided with that of Eleanor Roosevelt. Dr. Robert S. Bookhammer, promising physician of Philadelphia, with his daughter, Barbara, is visiting in Tidouite with his father, William Bookhammer, who has been ill for a long time. The doctor, in addition to his private practice, is on the staff of Jefferson Medical College, oldest medical college in the country as well as one of the best, and lectures frequently at Temple University. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tibbott have returned home after spending the past six weeks in Florida. Imagine the surprise of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Unangst, in Buffalo for the weekend, when they picked up the Sunday edition of the Courier-Express and found on page one of its social section pictures of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hulings, whose guests they were. Mrs. Hulings is the former Katherine Unangst. The pictures were taken in conjunction with activities of the Glippers Club of Central Presbyterian church, Buffalo. Lt. Rowena Farnsworth called last evening from Lugano, Switzerland, to inform her sister, Mrs. Margaret E. Tickner, Brook street, that she is enjoying a two-week furlough in Switzerland and Rome.

Youth Party Will Have Prevue For Jamestown Event

The teens and twenties are saving Saturday, April 6th, for their next community young people's party at Beatty school. The Committee on Community Recreation has announced that the entertainment will be a prevue of the floor show acts which have been selected to go to the Jamestown youth center, the Rec, a week from Friday.

Tessie Fino and Charles Cochener are co-chairmen for arrangements on this week's party, also making plans for the Jamestown trip next week. They are asking for a complete turnout of their committee chairmen this evening at seven o'clock in the downstairs conference room at the Warren public library.

Rita Scivano is chairman of the refreshments committee; Betty Lou Hook and Patti Wade co-chairmen on decorating; Charles Sherman, set up; Louis Lowe, cleanup; Mike D'Angelo, lights; Wilmer Latshaw and E. J. Kolpien, door; Betsi Conaway, Marti Winans, and Kay Kondak, games; J. Ann Phillips, signs; Eud Marrer, Huthings, Jack Eggleston and Carol Niver.

Dale Soderburg's Orchestra is furnishing the music for the Saturday night party and will also go to Jamestown, supplying music for dancing and floor show specialties. Other floor show acts and the master of ceremonies will be announced in tomorrow's edition of the Times-Mirror.

Franklin Function Of Local Interest

The following article from Franklin will be read with considerable interest by local relatives and friends of those mentioned:

Mrs. Charles Hummel and Mrs. LeRoy Hovis entertained 35 guests at a family dinner at noon Wednesday at the former's home in celebration of the 55th wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Agnew.

A feature of the event was the presence of all the brothers and sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Agnew: Mrs. Emma Shaw, McKeesport; Mrs. Bertha Young, Meadville; Mrs. Pearl Carson, Sharon; Earl Siggins, Pittsburgh; Eugene Siggins, Tidouite; Isaac Siggins, of Russell, kinsmen of Mrs. Agnew; Blanche Schnell, Kathryn Agnew, Mrs. Peter Beckenbach and Flindley Agnew, Youngville, Mr. Agnew's relatives.

Mr. Agnew, whose home was in Tidouite, and Violette Ann Siggins, who lived in West Hickory, were married on March 27, 1891, in Tionesta.

ASK RESERVATIONS FOR BPW AFFAIRS

Mrs. Earl Fenderson, president of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club calls, attention of her group to two special events requiring their attention prior to the next regular meeting of the local club.

The Youngville BPW has invited Warren members to their birthday party to be held at Pittsfield Inn on April 9, meeting night of the local group. The dinner will be served at 6:45 and reservations must be made no later than April 4, by calling Mrs. Fenderson, 2486.

The second event is the spring meeting of District One, to be held at Corry on Saturday, April 13. The business session, for reports of clubs and election of district officers, will be called at 4:00 p. m. in the BPW clubhouse by Goldie Hill, member of the Youngville club and instructor in Beatty school here. The banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in the Methodist church dining room, when the special speaker will be Helen Remier, of Meadville, past state president and friend of many in Warren. Reservations for this dinner must be in Mrs. Fenderson's hands no later than April 6.

FIRST FEATURE RECITAL ENJOYED

The first in the special feature recital series was held at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday evening, a good sized audience turning out. Each faculty member is permitted to present one advanced student in a group of two selections, and the following were heard in this initial recital: Connie McNulty, Geraldine Peterson, Helen Walker, Carolyn Fitzgerald, of Kane, Beverly McIntyre, Joan Yagge, Charles Cochener, Dorothy Schren, Joe Fuelhart, Janet Jones, Mary and Charles Huthings, Jack Eggleston and Carol Niver.

Next special event at the Conservatory will be the benefit recital on Friday night of this week, given by Eleanor Swanson, pianist, and Byron Swanson, tenor.

CONSERVATORY PLANS FOR FRIDAY OPENING

The newly redecorated and furnished Warren Conservatory of Music will be the scene of a beautiful concert on Friday evening, when Eleanor Swanson, pianist, and Byron Swanson, tenor, are presented to music lovers of Warren and vicinity.

For some time the Conservatory has been undergoing a complete "face lifting" process: Rooms freshly painted in rich artistic colors, new indirect lighting system installed, beautiful new stage curtains attractively lighted, new furniture and drapes, refurnished floors, until it now presents itself as one of the most modern and attractive places of its kind to be found.

Tickets for Friday's concert are on sale at the Conservatory, 9714, or may be obtained from students and faculty members. Proceeds from the concert will go toward further improvement of the institution.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN

The April business and social meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Warren County was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. J. McCracken, 205 Pennsylvania avenue, east. The hostess spoke of candidates for the May primaries, after which all participated in an open discussion of pertinent current events. To conclude, the hostess served refreshments from a table attractively set with spring flowers. The time and place of the May meeting will be announced later.

CORAPOLIS GIRL BRIDE ON FRIDAY

Miss Elva M. McComas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McComas, of Corapolis, has chosen Friday, April 5, at 3:45 p. m., as the hour for her marriage to William J. Johanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Johanson, 22 Brook street, this city.

The ceremony will take place at the North Warren Presbyterian church, the bride observing open church.

HOLLABAUGHS HAVE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Seventy-three friends and relatives attended the silver wedding anniversary party held at Pleasant Grange hall on Saturday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hollabaugh, of Tidouite. They received many lovely remembrances from those assembled together with hearty congratulations and best wishes for many more happy occasions.

Rites at Sugar Grove Announced

There is considerable local interest in the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. F. Gerald Whiting, Fredonia, N. Y., of the marriage of their only daughter, Julia Elizabeth, to William W. Williams, son of Mrs. Mae L. Williams and Henry E. Williams, of Tampa Fla., on March 25.

The double ring ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Gourley, Sugar Grove, by the Rev. A. H. Lewis, pastor of the Nazarene church at Dunkirk, N. Y.

The bride wore a gold dress, with corsage of gardenias. Miss Lucille Gourley and James W. Gourley were the attendants, the former wearing a green dress and gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Williams is a graduate of Fredonia High School, Class of 1944, and is employed by the G. G. Murphy Company. Mr. Williams has been honorably discharged from the army after five years of service, two of which were spent in the European theatre. They will make their home at 73 Water street, Fredonia.

Other guests at the wedding were Mrs. A. H. Lewis, Miss Ruth Shaw, Dunkirk; Miss Charlotte Houser, Fredonia; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Capron and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gourley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Phillips and family, all of Sugar Grove.

Basketball Is On Way "Up" Again, Archibald Tells City League Cagers At Y Banquet

"Basketball is on the way 'up' again."

That is what one of Warren's most outstanding basketball proponents, Gerry Archibald, told City League cagers last night at the annual spring banquet held in the YMCA. Archibald, son of L. W. Archibald, who was a member of the first basketball team there ever, explained that, despite minor changes, basketball today still compares favorably with the original "peach basket" game originated by Dr. Naismith in Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1891.

"Even though the uniforms have changed and there have been rule revisions, the game, in my estimation, is still the finest indoor sport there is if it is played correctly," he said. Archibald was formerly manager and coach of the Hy-Vee Oils, Cleveland White Horse, and the Detroit Eagles.

Archibald, principal speaker at the annual gathering, pointed out some of his experiences and denounced small cities in the eastern United States for lack of adequate facilities. He said that in many towns in the mid-west, basketball arenas have seating capacities that equal the number of persons in those towns.

Following his address, he presented miniature basketballs to members of the championship Sylvania team, which won the 1945-46 title by defeating Penn Bottle of Sheffield in a three-game playoff. Those who received awards were Nick Gruswick, Palmer Davis, Felix Mira, Coach Dick Schumacher, Nick Creola, Ray Jusola, Louis Vizsa, Ed Seeger, Heinie Anderson, and Bill Cutler.

"Jiggs" Bonavita, recently discharged from the armed services, acted as toastmaster for the banquet. He called upon the following team managers for short speeches and also their respective sponsors: Inar Olson, Youngsville; Felix Mira, Sylvania; Tony Tomassoni, Times-Mirror; Don Taylor, Blomquist; Warren Tayer, Bakers; "Red" Swanson, Struthers; and Leo Gleese, Struthers. The Penn Bottle and O'Connor teams were unable to be represented.

Officials of the league announced the selection of the 1945-46 all-star team.

High scorers for the league were also named. Mike Otto, of Penn Bottle, took first honors with 143 points in 13 games. His brother, Matthew, was second with 128 in 13 games, and Palm Davis of Sylvania was third with 122 in 14 games. Gruswick was fourth with 120 and Ken Bartsch was fifth with an equal number.

Guests at the banquet last night were Joe Massa and his Dragon basketball squad.

Knights Score 4 Over Jamestown

The Knights of Columbus, after defeating the A. J. Fischer team from Altoona on Friday night, continued on their winning ways Sunday afternoon by recording a four-point victory over Laska's Grill of Jamestown.

Paul Coppola turned in a high single game of 219 and a 585 total to lead the Knights, and Chiappa's 226 single and Munella's 576 total paced the losing Jamestowners.

Behind the Lines

Sportsmanship Very Low

For a state championship playoff game, the two teams that met to decide the PIAA 1945-46 title Saturday night at Convention Hall in Philadelphia displayed a very poor exhibition in sportsmanship. And local fans can proudly find the athletic set-up in Warren High for its well-conducted sports program.

Allentown and Homestead, the former coping a 45-27 verdict, put on an excellent show of basketball mastery for the first two quarters, but the second half brought forth loud choruses of boos from the 12,000 fans who watched the thriller.

The fact that Homestead was definitely beaten midway in the third quarter and the fact that poor sportsmanship entered into the picture puts the Steelers "on the spot." PIAA officials will probably take some sort of action against the westerners for their disgraceful tactics.

A fight that developed in the fourth quarter and necessitated interruption by police was not in the liking of the fans nor was it any semblance of good sportsmanship. Both teams were at fault, and both, regardless of "political standing" in the PIAA, should be punished.

From The Rumor Box

The PIAA may build an athletic auditorium at Harrisburg in the near future. Plans are to have an aggregate seating capacity of 40,000. Chick Davies, Homestead cage mentor, may not return to the Steeler helm next season. The ex-Duquesne coach plans to enter professional coaching. However, he will be given a fine sendoff by the Homestead people—a $1000 bond and possibly a new car. . . Allentown High is reported to have eleven full-time basketball coaches.

Here And There

Johnny Pollock, with the Jamestown PONY League entry in 1941, has returned to the Falcons for this season. . . Meadville High has a 23-game court schedule next season. . . The Bulldogs also had eighty boys report for the first track session. . . Clair Bee, masterful mentor of basketball at Long Island University, will be the guest speaker at the Oil City cage banquet tonight. . . Dr. Sullivan, of Homestead and a close friend of Chick Davies, stopped Joe Massa in Harrisburg late Friday night and complimented him and his team for their outstanding sportsmanship in the western final. . . Montreal players, from the International League, are voicing violent protests for having to play with Negroes in the Southern Association.

DRAGON CAGERS DINE WITH ROTARY

The Warren High School basketball team was entertained yesterday noon at the regular luncheon meeting of Rotary at the YWCA. Those honored were Coaches Joe Massa and Harry Hutchings; Manager Duane Wilder; Dick Harris, Jack Eaton, Al Babcock, Neil Simmons, Gail Nelson, Tony Vescio, Ed Woollaston, Sig Decker, and Jack Harrington.

All Year Harvest Given By Crops Which Defy Cold

In sixteenth century England, parsnips were popular, together with a similar vegetable known as the skirret, which is described by an ancient garden writer as having a taste "very pleasant, far beyond any parsnip, as all agree that taste them."

The skirret has disappeared, however, and the parsnip survives, not only one of the sweetest of vegetables, but one with anti-freeze mixture in its veins. This merit it shares with salsify, the "oyster plant," likewise an ancient root crop, and both can be left in the garden all winter or dug up in the fall, placed in paper bags, and stored in an outdoor box to be brought in, thawed out and cooked as needed.

Parsnip flavor is improved by freezing, but it is delicious before frost, and young roots pulled up in thinning out the rows will make a welcome summer dish. The seeds should be fresh, as they do not keep long; legal germination is 60 per cent. They should be sown as soon as the garden is prepared, in drills half an inch deep. They take two to three weeks to germinate, so a few radish seeds may be mixed with them to come up quickly and "mark the row." The plants should be thinned out to stand four to six inches apart, since the roots grow to a depth of a foot and a diameter of three inches.

Salsify roots are thinner and may stand two inches apart. The seeds are long and pod-like and germinate quickly. This crop requires rich soil to produce good roots, and takes 100 days from sowing to mature.

Parsnip and salsify are the only vegetables commonly grown which are unharmed, improved in fact, by prolonged hard freezing. They may be left in the garden all winter and dug in the spring, but if not promptly lifted they will begin to grow and turn soft.

While Frost Improves Their Flavor, Parsnips Are Good In Summer, Too.

Kale and Brussels sprouts will survive several freezing spells in the late fall, but they should be used before winter really sets in.

New Housing Regulation Will Provide Homes for Veterans

By STERLING F. GREEN (Substituting for James Marlow) Washington—Keep your seat. The new government housing regulation is no bombshell threatening to wreck reconversion or the expansion of business.

Its aim is to make sure that materials needed for veterans' homes are not used up in factories, stores, amusement places and other buildings which are not vital at the moment.

But that order, issued by the Civilian Production Administration last week, is only part of the bigger government program, already launched, to boost construction by starting right down at the raw material stage.

The whole program actually will increase—not reduce—the volume of non-residential building in 1946 and 1947, in the opinion of Wilson W. Wyatt Jr., the national housing administrator.

The result will be about four percent more industrial and commercial building than would be possible if the board program had not been launched, Wyatt estimates.

This, he believes, will be the result of measures intended to increase the supply of materials, equipment and trained construction workers; to broaden the use of new materials and new techniques.

CHANDLERS VALLEY

The Chandlers Valley P. T. A. unit met in the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Irene Dunham in charge. Opening song: "America." Devotions—Rev. Berlin. Mr. Ekdahl's room received the attendance banner. The following program was presented:—Two piano solos by Beverly McIntyre of Youngsville; two vocal solos by Norma Haight. Talk by Rev. Berlin. Refreshments were served.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Eckert were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rudolph and sons, and Misses Elsie and Mabel Lott.

Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Atkins and son Hubert, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Atkins and sons were recent visitors of relatives at Frewsburg, N. Y.

Mrs. Harold Griggs and daughter Sally Jane, visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Meade, of Frewsburg, N. Y.

Miss Doris Engstrom, of Rocky Grove, Pa., was a weekend visitor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Engstrom.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olson of Sugar Grove, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hultberg have moved into the Berg place. They were recently married.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Gage were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, Miss Rowena Atkins and Mr. Eugene Spry.

The Lutheran church was filled on Sunday morning when they had the privilege to hear the Upsala College Girls' Choir of East Orange, New Jersey and also Dr. Larson who brought the message. The Youngsville and Frewsburg churches united with them for this service.

Rev. H. H. Atkins is spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Walter Moorehouse and family of Caldwell, New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gantz of Warren were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griggs and family and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Gage.

Rev. H. H. Atkins spoke at a Youth of Christ meeting at Grand Valley on Saturday evening.

A birthday party was given in honor of 2-year-old Sherry Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griggs on Saturday evening. Little Sherry received many lovely cards and gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Max Gage and daughter Sally Jane.

Mrs. Eugene Eckert and Mr. Ira

The same steps, if taken without the new CPA regulation, would result in a vastly greater increase of non-residential building.

But CPA's order requires every prospect builder to prove before he can go ahead the immediate essentiality of his project, unless it is a house costing under $10,000.

So while the increase in factories, stores, hotels and similar structures will be only four percent, the increase in houses will be about 65 percent.

Proposed new theatres, race tracks, night clubs and luxury dwellings will be held back. So will new factories, unless they will make needed products or supply needed jobs.

This not only will free materials for houses, but for those factories, stores and public works which can qualify as essential.

The whole program depends on the success of the drives to increase the output of lumber, bricks, tile, pipe, roofing and other materials, and to recruit construction workers.

Wyatt told it this way to a congressional committee:

"The necessary expansion in home building can be accomplished only through a great expansion in total construction activity. It cannot be accomplished through the x x x reduction of competing phases of construction."

Johnson attended the Agricultural Extension meeting at Warren on Monday.

Mr. O. L. Swanson is spending a few days with his family, Mrs. Oliver Swanson and sons.

We wish to thank friends who so kindly sent cards and gifts to Mr. Swanson on his 88th birthday. Your thoughtfulness was much appreciated. Sincerely, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. A. Swanson.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson were Mrs. Russell Johnson and daughter Dawn, of Alma, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henrys and Shirley of Cambridge Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gourley, Mrs. Raymond Shrub and daughter Ruth Ann of Sugar Grove.

Recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Johnson was Mr. Mark McCarty of Jamestown, N. Y.

Erie Decisions K. of C. Team Sunday

Chapter 18

"DIANA," said Aunt Emma, "will you take this tray up to your Uncle Rufus? Then come down, and we'll have our own lunch."

Di took the tray and went toward the door.

"The back stairs," said Aunt Emma, opening a door, "it saves a good many steps."

Di had not known before of this back stairway leading up from the kitchen. It was dark, with a closed door at the top, and darker still as Aunt Emma closed the kitchen door behind her. And at once, as that door shut, she began thinking again of the forbidden room.

"Oh, how stupid and disgusting of me!" she cried to herself, in a sort of despair. "Exactly like Bluebeard's wife! Just because Aunt Emma said not to go into it... She probably did that on purpose—one of her horrible psychological experiments... Perhaps she wants to divert my mind from other things..."

She reached the door at the top, and had to set down the tray, to open the door.

"If only I can get a word alone with Uncle Rufus... And I'll look into that room, just to prove to myself..."

Uncle Rufus's door was closed, and she knocked. There was no answer, and presently she knocked again. She tried the handle, and found the door locked.

"Uncle Rufus!" she called.

A door across the corridor opened and Uncle Peter appeared. "Ah!" he said, jauntily. "A little refreshment! I can do with that!"

"It's for Uncle Rufus," said Di indignantly. "His door's locked—"

"I know," said Uncle Peter, with his old apologetic air. "Please unlock the door!"

"Certainly!" he said. "Certainly!" He took the key from his pocket, put it into the lock and turned the door.

Uncle Rufus was not asleep; he was sitting bolt upright in the bed in that dark, close room.

"Are you feeling better?" Di asked, stirred to pity and concern for him.

He only shook his head.

"Here's some nice hot cocoa," she went on. "Will you let me—?"

"I'll have to feed him," whispered Uncle Peter.

"Let me!" said Di.

"No," protested Uncle Peter. "I understand his ways, y'know." Di went nearer to the bed, but Uncle Peter blocked the way. "Please don't get him worked up!" he whispered.

Di looked over her shoulder at the old man and saw him looking at her sidelong.

"Uncle Rufus!" she cried. "Please—just tell me how you feel?"

"Better!" he croaked, in a hoarse voice.

"Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Don't go till I'm better—" he said, in that same hoarse, painful voice.

"I won't," she said. "Wouldn't you like—?"

"He's hungry," Uncle Peter explained, and at once began feeding him with the cocoa. "When you go down, would you mind telling your Aunt Emma that I'm hungry too? She keeps me shut up here... Least she can do is to remember my food."

Uncle Rufus said Di, looking steadily at the old man. "I'll stay. I'll be here all the time—if you want anything, I'll come back after lunch and see you."

The room was too dim for her to see his face clearly at that distance, but she hoped that he understood.

"He wrote that note," she thought. "He's afraid. Something horrible is going on."

As she left the room, Uncle Peter closed the door behind her, and she heard the key turn in the lock.

SHE had almost reached the head of the front stairs when something checked her. That room... Now was her chance to look at it, to rid herself once and for all of this preposterous obsession.

She turned back, she hesitated; she listened.

"Perhaps that's just what Aunt Emma wants," she thought. "For me to go... there. Perhaps there's something—I won't like..."

Better to see it, though, what-ever it was; better to go, and be done with it. She went softly past Uncle Rufus's door, to that other door, but her hand on the knob. And again she hesitated.

"Perhaps I'll be sorry..." she said to herself.

But she turned the knob, and opened the door.

Nothing there, surely, to trouble the most timid. Through the window at the old man's, a blue sky, the tree tops; inside, only a dusty neatness. She stepped over the threshold.

Then she felt it. A strange tingling in her veins, a dread, an excitement, that made her heart beat fast. But there was nothing there; nothing at all.

She looked toward the door of the clothes-closet.

"All right!" she said, aloud, and with a sort of rush, went over to it and flung it open. Nothing there but empty shelves and hooks. She closed the door again, and looked about her. Nothing anywhere.

Yet somehow this blankness did not reassure her.

And her fear grew. There was something here, something in the very air that stifled her. She hurried to the window, to open it, and stopped there, with her face grown white as chalk.

For printed on the window-sill in neat black letters was a name:
